

Contributors

TERSITO ALIPOSA is special assistant to the university president, University of Eastern Philippines, North Samar.

DAMIANA EUGENIO is professor emeritus at the University of the Philippines. She was dean at U.P. Clark Air Base and was director of the U.P. Extension Program at San Fernando.

RENE B. JAVELLANA, S.J. teaches theology and Philippine Arts at the Ateneo de Manila. His forthcoming book is Casaysayan nang Pasióng Mahal: Critical Text and Commentary.

GHISLAINE LOYRE was lecturer at the University of the Philippines, and researcher at the Mindanao State University and the Institute of Philippine Culture.

FRANCISCO MALLARI, S.J. obtained his M.A. in Philosophy from Berchmans College and an M.A. in History from Loyola University. He is on leave from Xavier University doing research in Spain.

JAMES O'DONNELL, S.J. is assistant dean of the Graduate School of the Ateneo de Manila and a board member of the Federation of Accrediting Agencies and the Philippine Accrediting Association of Schools, Colleges and Universities.

RAMON REYES is professor in the Philosophy Department of Ateneo de Manila. He earned his doctorate in Philosophy at the University of Louvain. WILLIAM HENRY SCOTT educated in Yale, Columbia and the University of Santo Tomas, is a lay missionary of the Philippine Episcopal Church. He is well-known for his writings on the mountain peoples of Northern Luzon.