

Contributors

DAVID B. BARADAS holds a Ph.D in Social Anthropology from the University of Chicago. He is executive director of Malacañang Heritage Foundation, Malacañang Palace.

MA. LUISA AGUILAR-CARIÑO is presently in Chicago pursuing a doctorate in creative writing at the University of Illinois. She is a recipient of several Palanca Awards and a National Book Award for her poems and short stories.

EVELYN TAN CULLAMAR is an associate professor and chair of the Department of Political Science of the Ateneo de Manila University. She received her Ph.D. in Philippine Studies from the Asian Center, University of the Philippines.

JIM KENNY is an assistant professor of communications at Loyola University of New Orleans. He previously directed "Statesman in Exile," a documentary on a dissident Philippine senator.

NORMA N. LUA teaches English and comparative literature at the University of the Philippines College Baguio. She received her Ph.D. in Literature from the Ateneo de Manila University.

HENRY M. SCHWALBENBERG is an assistant professor of Economics and director of the Graduate Program in International Political Economy and Development at Fordham University.

DELFIN TOLENTINO, JR., associate professor of comparative literature, is chair of the Division of Humanities at UPCB and head of the Public Information and Publications Office.

GERARDO Z. TORRES has an M.A. in English Literature. He teaches at the Literature Department of De La Salle University.

PETER WALPOLE, S.J. is head of the Environmental Research Division (ERD) of the Manila Observatory and is currently involved in watershed management studies in the Philippines and in Southeast Asia.